The Canvas Hotel Dubai MGallery

Hotel Overview

Milan based architect and interior designer, Marco Mangili completed the design for this 164-room hotel. The decor has a classic elegance with a modern contemporary European design with warm colors to create a soothing atmosphere. The idea is to create a space that gives you the feeling of a home away from home. A hotel, even though a commercial venue, needs to make the guest feel instantly at ease, relaxed and comfortable. The focus was on the discipline of the lines and spaces along with the modern use of materials, whilst looking for a strong identity and respecting the diverse and unique environments (restaurants, rooms, spa, etc.). Every one of these spaces is a part of the hotel, but each also has the ability to live independently within its own identity.

In the modern and elegant lobby of The Canvas Hotel Dubai – MGallery Hotel Collection, an imposing sculpture in bas-relief made of polished steel dominates the scene with its inimitable game of reflected light.

This monumental work of Helidon Xhixha is art of his "Light Series" collection. The sculpture encloses the allegory of the evolutionary human pathway, which begins from the light. In 2001, this Albanian artist had his first trip to Dubai and fell in love with the city.

He was amazed by its rapid transformation into a metropolitan city enriched by amazing architecture and filled by the many faces of people from all over the globe.

Inspired by the magical lights that brighten up the night sky of Dubai, Xhixha delivered his first monument to the UAE in January 2012. Standing high at 12 by 4 meter, the steel sculpture now hangs brightly in the magnificent lobby of The Canvas Hotel Dubai – MGallery Hotel Collection.
